

Business Planning map for start up business.

Identifiers have been removed to respect client confidentiality.

A mapping process was used to help the client identify the key elements of their potential business, then break these elements down to smaller, manageable areas to work on in the development of their business plan.

